VI.A. INTRODUCTIONS AND RECOGNITIONS.—The Board continued in Open Session. Chairman Huckabee called on Dr. Mitchell, Dr. May, Dr. Schovanec, and Dr. Lange to present their introductions and recognitions.

Chancellor and President Mitchell presented his introductions and recognitions. “Thank you Mr. Chairman. First, from the System perspective, I’d like to introduce Mr. Brady Crook. Brady has joined the Institutional Advancement (IA) team at the System as the senior associate vice chancellor. He started on Wednesday, so he’s been here for a long time—for the past two days. He is going to do System-level work on corporate and foundation relationships as well as the annual giving operations which as you all know, is something we have been working hard to improve for a long period of time. He is also going to be operating and running the Phone Center which is on our second floor. There have been a lot of renovations going on up there. It’s up and running now. He is also going to be working directly with the Chancellor’s Council. All of this is to support the components and their fundraising goals and priorities. Before coming to Texas Tech, Brady was the vice president for university advancement at Adelphi University—a private institution in Garden City, New York. He has nearly 30 years of experience in higher education advancement with a record of success in fundraising, specifically with comprehensive capital campaigns, new donor campaigns, large-scale individual gifts and corporate philanthropy. Prior to being at Adelphi, Brady worked at the University of Illinois-Chicago as an associate vice chancellor. Brady and his wife, Melissa, are proud graduates of Washington State University with three grown daughters. Please join me in welcoming Brady to the Texas Tech team.

“From the Health Sciences Center side, we have one recognition and that is of Lori Rice-Spearman. Lori has been the dean of the Texas Tech University Health Sciences Center School of Health Professions since January of 2016. She has served as the associate provost since 2018. Her responsibilities as dean span over 20 academic programs—the School of Health Professions has more academic programs than any of our other schools. She is responsible for programs on four campuses as well as online programs that literally stretch around the globe. Prior to serving as dean, Lori served in various positions within the school including the associate dean for learning outcomes and assessments as well as the chair of the Department of Laboratory Sciences and Primary Care. On October 1, Lori was appointed provost and chief academic officer at Texas Tech University Health Sciences Center. In this role, she will be responsible for being an advocate for all of our academic programs, ensuring consistent quality standards and curriculum in programs while also providing leadership in the academic student services area. In total, Lori has contributed to Texas Tech University Health Sciences Center mission for over 30 years. She has publications, presentations and research in various peer review journals and is recognized nationally as an innovator in health professions education. She is also a national leader in leading teams to launch the five first-in-the-nation accredited academic programs. In 2018, the School of Health Professions received the inaugural Association of Allied Health Professional's Excellence in Interprofessional Education Award which she was directly in charge of and responsible for. More recently, Lori led the university initiative of great colleges to work for. Texas Tech University Health Sciences Center was the only health-related university in the United States to receive this accreditation as a great university to work for and Lori was instrumental in making that happen. We are excited to have Lori on our team as our new provost and we know that she will do outstanding things in her new role. Please join me in congratulating Dr. Rice-Spearman."

Regent Griffin added, "Mr. Chairman, on a personal note, one of the benefits and pleasures of being a local regent is you grow up with these people that achieve such high honors and prestige and bring such fabulous recognition to the institutions that they serve. Dr. Rice-Spearman is certainly no exception. I can’t be objective. She is a personal family friend. You may not know this, but because of her charm and her intelligence and her spirit, around campus where we live, she was known as the velvet hammer. Dr. Mitchell, just keep that in mind."

Chancellor and President Mitchell responded, "I’ve already experienced that. The only knock on her application was the fact that she was using Regent Griffin as a reference."

Regent Griffin added, "That’s the reason it took her that long to get to this spot. Congratulations Dr. Lori."

Dr. Mitchell stated that was the conclusion of his introductions and recognitions.
President May had no introductions or recognitions.

President Schovanec presented his introductions and recognitions. “Mr. Chairman, my first introduction is Linda Hoover. Dean Hoover recently announced her retirement after having served as dean of the College of Human Sciences for 19 years. I don’t believe there has ever been a dean...maybe a very few, who have served for that duration. She attended Texas Tech where she received her bachelor’s degree but then went to Texas Women’s University where she received her master’s degree and her Ph.D. She originally returned to build the hotel, restaurant and institutional management program. She has been instrumental in expanding the Child Development Research Center and the Center for Collegiate Recovery Communities that is recognized as a national model for students who deal with addictive disorders. Under her leadership, the College has developed prominence in food and nutritional sciences and for work in personal financial planning—one of the top-rated programs in the U.S. I think what was even more significant is the College of Human Sciences excels in providing a nurturing environment for students. They take care of their students as well as any college on this campus and that results in some of the highest retention and graduation rates of any college at Texas Tech. Dr. Hoover has received the President’s Academic Achievement Award in recognition of her accomplishments in areas of teaching, research and service. Linda, we thank you and we’re going to miss you.

“Next, we have Ron Kendall. Ron is a professor of environmental toxicology and was recently named to the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency’s Clean Air Scientific Advisory Committee. Dr. Kendall came to Texas Tech in 1997 as the founding director of the Institute of Environmental and Human Health. He is a widely recognized expert in environmental toxicology and ecology, and he maintains a highly productive research program focused on threats to Bobwhite quail due to wildlife toxicology laboratory. He is a fellow of the Environmental Toxicology and Chemistry Society. Ron, congratulations on this recent, significant appointment.

“For eight years in a row, Texas Tech University has been named as recipient of the Higher Education Excellence in Diversity or HEED Award. This achievement is due primarily to the work that is done through the Division of Diversity, Equity and Inclusion where Dr. Carol Sumner serves as the vice president and chief diversity officer. Carol, I noticed that Ashley is standing behind you. Ashley Gonzales is an important member of that office and I know that she was also instrumental in preparing this application. So, I am pleased to recognize both Carol and Ashley, but let me say a bit more of what Carol has achieved in the short time she has been here. She has had a very dramatic impact and implemented several programs directed toward professional support, community engagement, recruitment and retention. Texas Tech was 1 of 93 institutions in the U.S.
to receive the HEED Award and the top tier HEED recipients are also named as diversity champions and Texas Tech was one of 16 institutions in the U.S. to receive that distinction. I thank you for your very good work.

“Finally, I’d like to introduce, Dr. Jesse Perez Mendez. Dr. Jesse Perez Mendez has recently been named the dean of the College of Education. This occurred in June. At that time, he was the dean of the Indiana University School of Education at Indiana University-Purdue University in Indianapolis. He has also served as the associate dean for academic affairs at the University of Central Florida and was head of the School of Educational studies at Oklahoma State University. He earned his Ph.D. in higher education and his law degree from Indiana University. He has a bachelor of arts from Midwestern State University and he also has a master’s degree in political science from Texas Tech University. He has been a recipient of the College of Education leadership and service award from Oklahoma State University and he held the Donnie and John A. Brock Professorship of Education Leadership and Policy and of Education Leadership at Oklahoma State University. In the short time he has been here, I would say I have been most impressed by his leadership and especially his personal skills and we are very fortunate to have him as a member of the Texas Tech University family.”

President Schovanec stated that was the conclusion of his introductions and recognitions.

President Lange had no introductions and recognitions.

X. REPORTS OF STANDING COMMITTEES.—At 2:10 pm, at the direction of Chairman Huckabee, Standing Committee reports were presented sequentially to the Committee of the Whole.

X.A. REPORT OF THE ACADEMIC, CLINICAL AND STUDENT AFFAIRS COMMITTEE

Committee Chair John Steinmetz reported that the Academic, Clinical and Student Affairs Committee met in open session on October 4, 2019 to consider those matters on its agenda and to formulate recommendations to the Board of Regents of the Texas Tech University System. Unless otherwise indicated, the actions set forth in the Minute Orders that follow were recommended by the Academic, Clinical and Student Affairs Committee and approved in open session and without objection by the Board of Regents of the Texas Tech University System.
X.A.1. TTU: Approve appointments with tenure.—The Board approved the granting of tenure for the following faculty of Texas Tech University concurrently with their respective appointments.

Dr. Jeffrey Belnap, Ph.D., Professor in the Department of Classical and Modern Languages and Literatures in the College of Arts and Sciences, and Dean of Texas Tech University – Costa Rica. He previously held faculty tenure and served as dean at Brigham Young University – Hawaii. He has also been chief academic officer at Zayed University, Abu Dhabi and Dubai, dean at Long Island University, Brooklyn, New York, and most recently served as the provost and senior vice president at the American University of Afghanistan in Kabul. His appointment was effective August 1, 2019.

Dr. Jennifer Burns, Ph.D., Professor and Chairperson of the Department of Biological Sciences in the College of Arts and Sciences. She progressed through the faculty ranks at the University of Alaska, Anchorage, receiving tenure there in 2006 and promotion to professor in 2011. Her Texas Tech faculty appointment is to be effective June 2020.

Dr. James Lee, Qualia Endowed Professor of Romance Languages in the Department of Classical and Modern Languages and Literatures in the College of Arts and Sciences. He previously held tenured positions at the University of Illinois and Indiana University, and comes to Texas Tech University after serving as a faculty member since 2005 at the University of South Wales in Australia. His appointment was effective September 1, 2019.

Dr. Jesse Perez Mendez, J.D., Ph.D., Professor and Dean of the College of Education. Dr. Mendez most recently served as a tenured professor and as dean of the School of Education at Indiana University-Purdue University Indianapolis. He previously held tenured faculty positions at the University of Central Florida and Oklahoma State University. His appointment was effective August 1, 2019.

X.A.2. TTU: Approve exceptions to nepotism policy.—The Board approved an exception to the nepotism policy in the following two instances.

Dr. Larry Williams was recently appointed as a professor with tenure in the Area of Management of the Rawls College of Business, effective September 1, 2019. Dr. Williams is the spouse of Dean Margaret Williams of the Rawls College of Business. Dr. Larry Williams’ supervision, including his performance evaluations and compensation decisions, will be provided by the Area Coordinator of Management (currently Dr. Claudia Cogliser) in conferral with the Office of the Provost, thereby by-passing the office of the dean of the college. This arrangement will be evaluated at the end of each academic year to assure there is effective management of the conflict of interest and to determine whether modifications are necessary.

Ms. Clara Zahler is a professor of Practice (non-tenure track appointment) in the School of Music in the J. T. and Margaret Talkington College of Visual and Performing Arts, as of August 2016. Professor Zahler is the spouse of Dean Noel Zahler of the same college. It was recently discovered that a request for exception to the nepotism policy had not been done at the time of hire. Professor Zahler’s supervision, including her performance evaluations and compensation decisions, will be provided by the Director of the School of Music (currently Professor Kim Walker) in conferral with the Office of the Provost, thereby by-passing the office of the dean of the college. This arrangement will be evaluated at the end of each academic year to assure there is effective management of the conflict of interest and to determine whether modifications are necessary.

X.A.3. TTU and TTUHSC: Approve the Dual Degree Program, BS in Nursing, BS in Human Sciences, between TTUHSC School of Nursing and TTU College of Human Sciences.—The Board approved a dual-degree program from existing programs: a Bachelor of Science in Nursing in the School of Nursing within TTUHSC and a Bachelor of Science in Human Sciences in the College of Human Sciences within TTU; and approved submission by the TTUHSC Senior Vice President for Academic Affairs to the Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board and the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools Commission on Colleges to seek their approval.

The dual program will utilize resources from existing programs at TTUHSC and TTU and will not require additional space, facilities, faculty, or staff. The School of Nursing will accept 60 SCH from TTU applicable to the BS in Nursing, and the College of Human Sciences will accept 24 hours from TTUHSC applicable to the BS in Human Sciences. To allow some of the requirements of the BS in Nursing to apply to the BS in Human Sciences, the College of Human Sciences developed a new undergraduate minor in Human Sciences in Nursing that will apply toward the BS in Human Sciences degree. The minor is fully approved and will be available only to students admitted to the dual-degree program. The minor comprises existing courses taught in the School of Nursing. No changes to the BS in Nursing curriculum are being proposed.

Enrollment increases are likely to be relatively small and confined to the College of Human Sciences, resulting in a very modest potential revenue generation specific to an increased enrollment. Enrollment in the first year at TTU is expected to be 20 students, and to plateau at about 80 students after two years. The proposed program has potential to serve as a model for future partnerships between academic degree programs at TTU and TTUHSC. Because the program will utilize existing faculty in existing courses, no additional costs of delivery are anticipated.

X.A.4. TTUHSC: Approve conferral of emeritus appointment.—The Board approved to confer the title of professor emeritus on Patricia Allen, Ed.D., RN, CNE, ANEF, FAAN for her distinguished service to the School of Nursing (“SON”) and the Texas Tech University Health Sciences Center (“TTUHSC”).

Dr. Allen joined the TTUHSC SON in 2004 and led the development of the TTUHSC Second Degree Accelerated BSN track. She guided the faculty in the initial development of the Accelerated track concept and curriculum and led the development of the proposal to gain approval from the Texas Board of Nursing and Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board (“THECB”) to offer the Accelerated BSN degree, which began in 2005.

Evidence of Dr. Allen’s strong record of distinguished service is demonstrated through her achieving national recognition as a Fellow within the American Academy of Nursing and the National League of Nursing. Dr. Allen’s leadership and expertise in nursing education resulted in the founding of the first SON center, the Center for Innovation in Nursing Education. One major goal of the Center was to spread innovation throughout the SON and this has occurred as new tracks have developed and innovation occurs frequently in all undergraduate tracks.

Dr. Allen has served most recently as a Professor and Director on Nursing Education for the SON and the Nursing Education Master’s track. Previously she served in the roles of Associate Dean, Interim Regional Dean, and Acting Dean for the SON. She was also the founding Co-Chair for the Coordinating Council, the central council for the SON’s Shared Governance Model. Dr. Allen retired on August 31, 2019.

I shared something with them that I will share with you and that is that I believe this is the best time that there has ever been to be a Red Raider and to be in the Texas Tech System. I want to tell you why. There are two reasons—one reason is every person in this room. We get to come up here and do what you do every day. I am going to challenge you guys to do something over the next week and that is to go to your staff, the people you work with and lead and thank them for doing a great job. It looks pretty easy when everyone is doing their job and doing it well. You guys are doing your jobs and you’re doing it well and so is your team. So, do me a favor next week and thank your team because it looks pretty easy when everybody is doing their work and going in the right direction. The other thing that we are fortunate for is that we are blessed with a lot of very generous supporters. You just can’t imagine. You see all of this stuff that goes on up here and it’s because generous supporters allow us to do what we do. They support buildings, they support scholarships and they are just generous people. If you happen to come across a generous donor, and there will be a bunch on campus because of things like what is going on this weekend, stop and thank them. None of us could do what we do without generous supporters. Those two things make us really, really good and we should be very grateful for where we sit as a university because of that.”

XII. ADJOURNMENT.—Chairman Huckabee adjourned the meeting at 2:39 pm.
